Armstrong State University
Communication Sciences & Disorders
Graduate Program (Master of Science)

1st Term - FALL 1

- CSDS 7136 Introduction to Clinical Practicum in Communication Disorders
- CSDS 7136L Introduction to Clinical Practicum in Communication Disorders
- CSDS 7141 Cognitive and Linguistic Foundations of Language
- CSDS 7144 Neuro-anatomy and Physiology
- CSDS 7145 Language Disorders in Early Childhood

2nd Term - SPRING 1

- CSDS 7137 Clinical Practicum in Communication Disorders
- CSDS 7137L Clinical Practicum in Communication Disorders
- CSDS 7143 Language Disorders in School-Age Children
- CSDS 7149 Aural Rehabilitation
- CSDS 7151 Aphasia and Related Neurogenic Disorders
- CSDS 7157 Speech Sound Disorders

3rd Term - SUMMER 1

- CSDS 7138 Clinical Practicum in Comm. Dis. – Intermediate
- CSDS 7138L Clinical Practicum in Comm. Dis. – Intermediate
- CSDS 7147 Language and Literacy
- CSDS 7150 Swallowing Disorders
- CSDS 7148 Oral and Speech Motor Disorders

4th Term - FALL 2

- CSDS 7154 Advanced Practicum in Communication Disorders I
- CSDS 7156 Voice and Fluency Disorders
- CSDS 7163 Research Methodology

5th Term - SPRING 2

- CSDS 7142 Professional and Ethical Issues in Communication Disorders
- CSDS 7155 Advanced Practicum in Communication Disorders II

---

Note: Some courses may be offered as hybrid, partially online, or fully online formats

---

Learning Outcomes

1. Degree completer’s candidates will obtain knowledge of etiologies and characteristics of various communication and swallowing disorders across the lifespan.

2. Degree completers will possess the skills to assess and treat persons with communication and swallowing disorders across the lifespan.

3. Degree completers will develop professional skills necessary to ethically and competently treat individuals with various communication and swallowing disorders across the lifespan.